In 2015, we celebrated the legacy of Claude Bain of the Virginia Marine Resources Commission and Jon Lucy of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science, who had the creativity and foresight to start the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program in 1995. Bain and Lucy realized not only were critical habitat and seasonal movement data limited for red drum in state waters, a similar situation existed for a number of other marine recreational species like black drum, cobia, speckled trout, and tautog. As a result, they decided to explore developing a multi-species, angler-assisted tagging program. The program has been supported over the past 20 years from Virginia saltwater fishing license funds and matching funds from VIMS.

2015 TOP TAGGERS

Mr. Lewis Gillingham, is the current VMRC Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament (VSFT) Director and manages the VMRC portion of the tagging program. Ann Burnett also of the VSFT, deserves special recognition for dedication to the program, as she has more experience than any other staff member with the project (having been there from the start!). Her consistent work, data management and guidance, keep the program on track. Also from the VMRC, Mr. Todd Sperling, deserves credit for taking the VGFTP to new levels with evolving web-based platforms and query options for the VGFTP database program database.

Ms. Susanna Musick, Marine Recreation Specialist in the Marine Advisory Program at VIMS, is the Principal Investigator for the tagging program. Also at VIMS, Ms. Dianne Roberts provides critical assistance to the tagging program by assisting with tag orders, assignment and distribution of tags and preparation for workshops. Dianne does a wonderful job with keeping up with our most prolific source of tagging data and preparing tag orders. Ms. Cheryl Teagle coordinates purchasing tags while helping manage the tagging program budget. Ms. Susan Stein and Ms. Silvia Motley in the Publications Center handle printing production of annual reports.

The Game Fish Tagging Program is a team effort by many critical players, especially the anglers who devote significant time and effort to tagging target fish and reporting fish recaptures. The project goes full circle: anglers buy saltwater licenses which help to fund the project; anglers tag fish, collect and report data, which are then shared with fishery managers for the VGFTP-targeted species. Most of all, the tagging program enables anglers to know the story of the fish they release, and these individual fish and stories come together to give us a glimpse of the bigger picture in terms of our recreational fishery. Thank you to everyone who has tagged a fish or reported a fish over the past 20 years!

VIRGINIA GAME FISH TAGGING PROGRAM 2015

Introduction

Through 2015, the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program has maintained a 20-year database of records for tagged and recaptured fish. The program is a cooperative project of the Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament (under the Virginia Marine Resources Commission-VMRC) and the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) of the College of William and Mary (under the VIMS Marine Advisory Program).

The primary goal of the program is to train and maintain an experienced group of anglers who are willing to volunteer their time and effort to properly tag and release their fish catch. Data on tagged and recaptured fish are summarized in annual reports and are accessible on VIMS website:

<http://www.vims.edu/vgftp/>.

Time series data are organized and provided whenever requested by anglers, angling groups, researchers, and fishery managers.

Program participants are trained to tag only designated target species in Virginia waters. Participation in the program is capped at two hundred trained taggers. Supporting this number of taggers has been manageable when meeting tag and tagging equipment needs, performing timely data entry, and mailing of tag-recapture reports (and reward items) to anglers reporting catches of tagged fish.

Funding for the program is applied for annually through a competitive proposal process under VMRC's Recreational Fishing Advisory Board. The program funding requires the Board's positive recommendation, which then goes before the VMRC Commissioners for final approval. If funding is approved, Virginia Saltwater Recreational Fishing License Funds (administered by VMRC) primarily cover budget needs, with additional matching funds contributed by VIMS.

A cooperative but separate funding proposal from that of the VSFT office is submitted annually to the VMRC by VIMS. The VIMS portion of the program focuses primarily on coordinating, maintaining and purchasing all tags and tagging equipment (tag guns, tag sticks, tagging needles, and constructing measuring boards). Also included in the VIMS budget are local travel costs and costs for presenting program results at scientific meetings. VIMS also handles several printed materials including tagging training handouts, waterproof tagging data sheets, and laminated posters alerting anglers to target species and the telephone number for reporting recaptured fish. The design, printing and publication of annual reports also falls to VIMS, including data analysis and the publication and maintenance of digital reports on the VIMS website.

The Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament office also submits a separate proposed budget. This budget predominantly covers expenses associated with purchasing reward items for recaptures and mailing such items (with printed Fish Recapture Reports) to people phoning in tagged fish recapture information. Reporters of tagged fish choose among various reward options including custom T-shirts, caps, sun visors, pewter fish pins, or plastic tackle organizers (as long as such items remain in stock).

Recapture awards encourage diverse members of the public (including commercial fishermen, seafood dealers, etc.) to call in reports of tagged fish they encounter. The reward system and recapture reports provide positive feedback to anglers and encourage them to continue to participate in the program and report future recaptures of tagged fish. Direct association of angler taggers with others in the angling community enhances program awareness, reminds anglers (and commercial fishers) of the importance of reporting tagged fish, and provides the angling community with positive fishery conservation role models. The program succeeds because of good teamwork across the angling community.

The tagging program documents annual and year-to-year movement and habitat utilization patterns of selected finfish species in Virginia waters. For certain species, the program documents significant coastal migrations. Many of these species spawn in the lower Bay or nearshore waters of Virginia and use Virginia estuarine and coastal waters as nursery and feeding grounds.

The program's results are of interest to the angling community and to fishery researchers and managers. The number and size distribution of fishes tagged each year compliment other research-based data sets and can help fishery managers gain a more comprehensive picture of sizes of fish released in the state's marine recreational fishery.

Tagging effort for flounder, red and black drum, speckled trout, cobia, spadefish, triggerfish and sheepshead primarily occurs in the Bay and nearshore coastal waters. However, tagging of tautog, black sea bass, spadefish and gray triggerfish occurs over much broader areas of the Bay and inshore-offshore waters. Tagging for structure-oriented species occurs on sites such as fishing piers, artificial reefs, the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel complex, shipwrecks and other bottom sites occurring from the lower Bay to sites offshore of Virginia.

Special tagging at warm water discharge sites through cooperation with Virginia Dominion Power came to an end in 2014 due to the closure of those facilities. In the past, Tagging data from the Yorktown Power Station (York River) and the Center for Energy Conservation Power Station (Elizabeth River) have helped to document these important overwintering sites for various species, especially speckled trout and red drum.

Target Species

Target species for 2015 appear below. Summer flounder replaced gray trout (weakfish) in 2000, the latest change to date.

Black Drum	Pogonias cromis
Black Sea Bass	Centropristis striata
Cobia	Rachycentron canadum
Summer Flounder	Paralichthys dentatus
Red Drum	Sciaenops ocellatus
Sheepshead	Archosargus probatocephalus
Spadefish	Chaetodipterus faber
Speckled Trout	Cynoscion nebulosus
Tautog	Tautoga onitis
(Gray) Triggerfish	Balistes capriscus

Program Objectives

Basic objectives guide program activities. There are five main objectives:

Develop and maintain a quality tagging program using a corps of trained angler taggers; tagging effort of these anglers should be directed to target species, especially where one can take advantage of significant numbers of non-legal fishes which anglers are readily discarding alive while complying with recreational fishing regulations.

(2) Where and when appropriate, direct program tagging effort toward opportunistic occurrences of strong year classes of fishes in Virginia's Bay and nearshore-offshore waters, especially species not traditionally subject to scientific tagging studies in such waters, i.e., red drum, black drum, speckled trout, tautog, sheepshead, spadefish, etc. The program does not target species currently monitored and/or targeted in state waters by research-based tagging studies coordinated by fishery research agencies and institutions, in particular, striped bass.

(3) Maintain a database of tagged and recaptured fish records accessible to the angling community, but also of use to fishery researchers and managers as the database matures. Make summaries and reports of such data available to the angling community through annual reports, websites, presentations to angling clubs, kids fishing clinics, etc. and provide requested data to researchers and fishery managers.

(4) Use the tagging program to enhance education of marine anglers about the importance of reporting tagged fishes to appropriate organizations, agencies, and research institutions to enhance understanding and management of key fishery stocks important to Virginia's marine recreational fisheries.

(5) Use program results to educate the angling community about fishery conservation and management benefits directly connected with proper handling and releasing of non-legal fishes. Tag-recapture data prove that using proper catch and release fishing practices results in better angling catches both short-term and long-term.

The program maintains a group of experienced, trained, angler-taggers who can capitalize on opportunities to tag key species that often exhibit high abundance levels during a given fishing season. These events contribute to rebuilding and sustaining specific fisheries in Virginia's one billion dollar recreational fishery and take on even greater value when this program documents sizes and abundance of recreationally-targeted fish and the habitats they utilize.

Database Progression

As in previous years, Mr. Todd Sperling's (VMRC) skills are indispensable for managing the program's data files. Since 2009, data are quarantined whenever a recaptured fish species does not match that of the tagged fish (such records are linked by their specific fish tag number). This feature allows the review of such data inconsistencies, which may be the result of various issues, i.e., recaptured fish tag numbers being misread and thereby reported incorrectly, a recapture angler's recall mistake regarding the species of tagged fish they caught, etc. Such reporting irregularities seem to occur most frequently at fishing piers and other heavily fished shoreline locations.

Other cases may include "negative days at large" for recaptured fish, i.e., when a tagged fish's reported recapture date is earlier than the reported recapture date. Also, if a recaptured fish's size is significantly different from what would be expected, this may suggest either the person reporting the recapture badly estimated the fish's length, or the recaptured fish's tag number was reported incorrectly, etc.; such issues can then be investigated and hopefully clarified. These recapture data issues more often occur on reports called into the office and left on voice mail outside of regular office hours.

Program Responsibilities

In addition to handling the majority of recapture data entry, the VA Saltwater Fishing Tournament office distributes tags, needles, etc. These items are regularly mailed to taggers and records are maintained regarding tag-number series assigned to the participants. This information is important for tracking down late tagged fish data reports for reported recaptures. Similarly, "Fish Recapture Reports" generated from the database are mailed to both the tagger and the angler reporting the recapture (along with the available reward item). This timely feedback loop is critical to the success of the tagging program.

Every tag clearly states that a "REWARD" is offered for reporting recaptures of tagged fishes. Appropriate reward items (program caps, sun visors, t-shirts, fish pins, etc.) are mailed to anglers (and commercial fishers and fish dealers reporting tags) by the VSFT office along with fish Recapture Reports. The most popular reward item is the t-shirt, which must be printed in limited numbers each year to stay within budget. Typically, late in the fishing year the t-shirt supply becomes exhausted. Then other reward items are substituted for it (most reporters of recaptured fish understand such issues).

The majority of data for both tagged and recaptured fishes are entered into the database at the VSFT office; the data go directly into the database maintained on a server at the VMRC. The VMRC database manager is proactive in contributing to the improvement of tagged and recaptured fish data and outputs. Current options include setting up various reports that provide "single-click" data summaries for review and tracking program results.

VIMS continues to serve as a remote site for entering tagged and recaptured fishes data for selected program participants. To relieve some of the workload from the VSFT office, VIMS (Dianne Roberts) enters all data for the program's most productive tagger, Mr. Ed Shepherd. From 2007-2014, Mr. Shepherd has tagged 2,000-10,000 fishes annually (3,914 in 2014, Table 1) which resulted in 550-1000+ recapture reports each year. Ms. Roberts also provides critical feedback to the program regarding data organization, tagging inventory, workshop materials and dissemination preparation.

At VIMS, tagged fish and recapture data records are also checked for possible inconsistencies and errors; the corrected data are then analyzed and formatted for various presentations and reports. Figures demonstrating fish movement and habitat use patterns are also developed for a variety of educational programs (VIMS Marine Science Day, kids fishing clinics, science teachers and public presentations). Data and graphics are also developed in different formats for various program dissemination needs, i.e. VIMS website pages, annual tagging training workshops, posters, annual reports and presentations (angling clubs, civic groups and scientific meetings). Tag and program equipment orders including the construction of fish measuring boards are handled by VIMS.

VIMS also periodically conducts tag retention field trials to evaluate whether changes might be warranted regarding the type of tag used for a specific species. Depending on the size range of fish, certain tags are more appropriate for small fish specimens (like the 2.5 in T-bar tag) versus large fish (plastic and stainless steel dart tags). For target species larger than 26-28 inches total length, the program recommends using a 6.25 in. stainless steel dart tag with wire core sheath.

Since 2008, select taggers have been testing dogleg dart tags (DD tags) and wide-anchor dart tags (DW tags) for improved retention in speckled trout and red drum. Tag retention studies continued in 2015 for these plastic dart tags to examine patterns of times at large (versus T-bar tags). Recapture rates and times at large are being examined to determine if distinctive patterns result from the DD and DW tags.

ADDRESSING CHALLENGES

Multiple recaptures of individual fish often occur at fishing piers or other sites that hold fish for extended periods (this is often the case with black sea bass, flounder, etc.). Multiple recaptures of black sea bass at fishing piers demonstrate that careful handling of undersized fish results in reasonable survival rates of the fish. Another positive result of successful releases is such fish often contribute in the future to another good day of fishing. However, especially at fishing piers, the practice also contributes to the referenced problem of some inaccurate reporting of tagged fish recaptures. Further, demand for recapture rewards at these sites can be challenging during certain periods of time and provide pressure in terms of maintaining stock and ensuring that the reported data are accurate. In the future, anglers requesting multiple rewards may need to be given a limited option of rewards in fairness to all program participants and to ensure consistent reward stock.

PROGRAM ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In other accomplishments, the VGFTP was certified by the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission (ASMFC) in 2013. The ASMFC has developed a voluntary certification process for tagging programs to endorse good tagging methods and sharing of tagging information among scientific and fisheries management groups. As part of the review, tagging programs provide information about their objectives and methods, and experts from the ASMFC Interstate Tagging Committee review the information to determine whether the study is scientifically sound and worthy of certification. The Committee is made up of scientists from state and federal agencies and academic institutions. More than 70 tagging programs are featured on the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission's Cooperative Tagging Registry. Of these programs, only 5 are currently certified by the Interstate Tagging Committee (ITC), and the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program recently joined these ranks. The VGFTP scored 116 out of a possible 120 points and was recognized for its sound program objectives and strengths. Some of the program's benefits identified included unique data collection, hands-on training, program commitment and strong communication and outreach.

The final decision to endorse the VGFTP was made by the ITC with the input of the ASMFC Red Drum, Black Drum, Tautog, Summer Flounder and Black Sea Bass Technical Committees and the Spotted Seatrout Development Team. Evaluators highlighted the program's scientific design, noting that the VGFTP provides information on recreationally important species and non-legal sized fish that lack other sources of data. The program was commended for the training provided to taggers and the commitment of program personnel and anglers to the program. Evaluators also recognized the VGFTP's role in improving communication between fishery scientists and managers and the recreational fishing community while obtaining quality tagging data.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Tagging Effort & Recaptured Fish Results

Through 2015, the program's database included 267,048 tag records and 28,629 recapture records

(Table 6). (*Note: VGFTP data referenced here include summaries of fish tagged and recaptured in terms of the number of fish recaptured (Table 5) and the cumulative number of recaptures, including multiple recaptures of the same fish (Table 6).)

During 2015, 87 trained anglers tagged fish. In February, “Top Tagger” awards were presented in Hampton at Bass Pro Shops’ Spring Fishing Classic seminar series. The Tagging Program is fortunate to have a consistent group of anglers dedicating volunteer effort into tagging considerable numbers of fish that result in useful recapture data. The 2015 top taggers were responsible for the majority of tagged and recaptured fish data last year. The good-natured competition for the annual awards encourages taggers to work at becoming more consistent in their tagging. By doing so, they have a chance at making the list of annual award winners for any given year.

Trained anglers’ tagging accomplishments appear in Table 3 by number of tagged fish. Fifty-five anglers tagged 25 or more fish during 2015, which accounted for about 98 percent of all fishes tagged in the year. This participation level is similar to 2014. These anglers’ consistent efforts produce the majority of data on local and regional habitat use and movement patterns of target species.

Top ranking anglers by total recaptures during 2015 appear in Table 4. The majority (96%) of recaptures reported during the year were accounted for by the 25 taggers listed. As expected, anglers tagging the most fish often have the highest number of recaptures per year. Higher numbers of recaptures are associated with a number of variables including fishing (and tagging) frequently, organizing one’s tags and data sheets to enhance tagging efficiency, and tagging at locations which hold individual fish for significant periods and which are fished frequently by other anglers.

The range of fishing/tagging areas covered by VGFTP taggers is important to keeping the program data relevant to target species dynamics including year-to-year abundance, habitat use and seasonal migration patterns. However, also important are a smaller number of taggers who routinely push themselves to even higher tagging goals (200-900+ fish per year). The teamwork and cumulative data resulting from taggers at each tagging effort level keep the program responsive to changes in Virginia’s recreational fishery.

SPECIES RESULTS

A note on analyses: the following data results include total tagging numbers and multiple recapture records with all quarantined records removed from analyses. The historical analyses included results of all years of available data combined, with the annual 2015 results following the historical data summary for each species.

OVERALL COMBINED SPECIES HISTORICAL RESULTS, 1995-2015

Since 1995, more than 260,000 fishes have been tagged through the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program. Participating anglers used 267,048 tags and 28,629 recaptures were reported since the program's inception (Table 6. Note: refer to this table for all further overall and individual species tag and recapture counts).

Program effort was highest in 2012 (n=31,841 tags, Fig. 1) and in terms of seasonality, combined data for all species show peak tagging effort in October (n=44,875 tags, Fig. 3) and the highest level of recaptures in August (n=5,110 recaptures, Fig. 4).

Flounder were the most popular species shown by both tagging effort data (n=75,952 tags, Fig. 5) and recaptures (n=7,925 recaptures, Fig. 6).

The program's top tagging location was the Gloucester Point Fishing Pier (n=20,891 tags, Fig. 7) and the site with the highest number of recaptures was Fort Monroe (n=4,805 recaptures, Fig. 8).

RESULTS BY SPECIES, 1995-2015

BLACK DRUM

HISTORICAL

Black drum have been targeted in the program since 1995; with 4,044 overall tags, peak effort took place in 2007 (n=546 tags, Fig. 9). In terms of season and habitat, tagging effort peaked in May (Fig.

10), with the peak tagging effort (13%) taking place at Inner Middle Ground Shoal (n=508 tags, Fig. 11). Tagged black drum ranged in size from four to 57.5 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 23.8 inches total length and peak effort taking place at the eight inch size class (n=248 tags, Fig. 12).

In terms of recaptures, 207 black drum recaptures have been reported since 1995, with 1995 having the highest annual results (n=37, Fig. 13). Recaptures were highest in October (n=53 tags, Fig. 14) and the most popular site for recaptures was the York River Hot Ditch (n=41 tags, 20% of overall effort, Fig. 15). Almost 70 recapture sites (n=66) have been reported for black drum, ranging as far north as the Choptank River, MD, and as far south as Sunset Beach, N.C. The reported days at large (number of days between the first day the fish was tagged and released and the last time it was reported as recaptured) ranged from zero to 1,105 days with an average of 57 days at large.

In 2015, 115 black drum tags and seven recaptures were reported. The highest tagging effort (20%) took place at Fishermen's Island Buoy 10 (n=23 tags, Fig. 16). Tagged black drum ranged in size from 5.5 to 50 inches total length, with a weighed mean of 21.6 inches and peak effort at the eight inch size class (n=13 tags, Fig. 17). Of the seven recaptures, five were reported at Fort Monroe (72% of recaptures, Fig. 18). Black drum days at large in 2015 ranged from one to 46 days, with an average of 12 days).

BLACK SEA BASS

HISTORICAL

Black sea bass have been targeted in the VGFTP since 1997, and since that time, 33,447 tags have been reported. Peak annual tagging effort took place in 2009 (n=3,274 tags, Fig. 19), and seasonal effort was highest in August (n=7,972 tags, Fig 20). Fort Monroe had the highest overall tagging effort (25%) over time (Fig. 21). Tagged black sea bass ranged in size from three to 23 inches total length, with a weighted mean total length of 8.2 inches and peak effort at the 6.5 inch size class (n=6,953 tags, Fig. 22).

Since 1997, 7,581 black sea bass recaptures have been reported, with 2014 leading in total recaptures annually (n=1,140, Fig. 23). Seasonal recapture effort was highest in August (n=2,545, Fig. 24), with Fort Monroe again having the highest number of effort (55% overall, n=4,194 tags, Fig. 25). Black sea bass recaptures were reported from 205 locations, ranging as far north as Jones Inlet, NY and as far south as Savannah, GA. Days at large for black sea bass ranged from 1 to 1819, with an average of 42 days at large.

More than 2,000 black sea bass were tagged in 2015 (n=2,150 tags), with the highest tagging effort taking place at Fort Monroe (n=1,801 tags, 83% of effort, Fig. 26), as in previous years. Tagged black sea bass ranged from five to 21 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of seven inches and peak effort at the 6.5 inch size class (n=1,634 tags, Fig. 27). Anglers reported 1,037 black sea bass recaptures in 2015, with Fort Monroe also ranking highest in recapture locations (n=1,016 tags, Fig. 28). The days at large for black sea bass recaptured in 2015 ranged from zero to 691 days. These recaptures included fish tagged in previous years: one in 2013, two in 2014, and 1,034 were tagged in 2015. However, the average days at large was 24 days, a reflection of the juvenile size class and habitat use (most small black sea bass targeted by the program are summer residents at fishing piers, for this reason, a minimum size of 6.5 inches was implemented in 2010).

COBIA

HISTORICAL

Beginning in 1995, cobia have been a target species of the VGFTP, with 2,865 tags reported; peak tagging effort took place in 2012 (n=457 tags, Fig. 29). In relation to seasonality and location, peak tagging effort took place in June (906 tags, Fig. 30), and the top tagging location was the Baltimore Channel Buoy Line (n=456 tags, 16% overall effort, Fig. 31). Tagged cobia ranged in size from eight to 63 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 33 inches. Peak effort took place at the 34 inch size class (n=148 tags, Fig. 32).

More than 200 recaptures have been reported (n=298), and 2015 led in annual recaptures (n=66, Fig. 33). Seasonally, recaptures were highest in July (n=90, Fig. 34), with the Latimer Shoal (RN 16 Buoy, Fig. 35) being the most popular recapture site (n=29 tags, 10% overall effort). Cobia recaptures have been reported from 94 locations, ranging as far north as Moriches Inlet, Long Island, NY, and as far south as the Gulf of Mexico, off Mississippi. Days at large ranged from one to 2,207 days with an average of 445 days.

In 2015, 348 cobia tags were reported and peak tagging effort took place at the Baltimore Channel Buoy Line (n=73 tags, Fig. 36), as in previous years. Tagged cobia ranged in size from 11 to 60 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 37.3 inches and peak effort at the 35 inch size class (n=30 tags, Fig. 37). More than 60 recaptures were reported (n=66 recaptures) and York Spit had the highest number of recaptures (n=8, Fig. 38). Cobia recaptured in 2015 had been at large from two to 2,207 days (with an average of 422 days at large). Of these recaptures, one fish was tagged in 2009, another in 2010, three in 2011, six in 2012, five in 2013, 22 in 2014, and 28 were tagged in 2015.

HISTORICAL

Since 1995, 75,952 tags have been reported for summer flounder. Annual tagging effort peaked in 2009 with 9,348 tags (Fig. 39) and seasonal effort peaked in June (n=18,137 tags, Fig. 40). Gloucester Point Fishing Pier led in tagging locations with 15% of overall effort (n=11,526 tags, Fig. 41). Tagged flounder ranged in size from four to 28 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 13.2 inches and peak effort at the 12 inch size class (n=7,239 tags, Fig. 42). Again, like black sea bass, this peak is a reflection of the program's size limit set in 2010 to better manage program activities.

In terms of recapture effort, 7,925 summer flounder recaptures have been reported since 1995. Recaptures peaked in July (n=1,982 recaptures, Fig. 44) and Gloucester Point Fishing Pier had the highest number of reported recaptures (n=1,537 recaptures, Fig. 45). Summer flounder were recaptured from 290 locations, as far north as Sakonnet Bay, Rhode Island Sound, and as far south as offshore South Carolina. Tagged flounder were at large from zero to 2,611 days, with an average of 64 days at large.

Anglers tagged 1,360 summer flounder in 2015, and the highest tagging effort (29% overall effort) took place at Fort Monroe (n=396 tags, Fig. 46). Tagged summer flounder ranged in size from nine to 26 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 12.9 inches and peak effort at the 12 inch size class (n=629 tags, Fig. 47). Fort Monroe also led in terms of recapture locations, with 98 recaptures reported there in 2015, 51% of the overall recapture effort (n=193 total recaptures, Fig. 48). Flounder recaptured in 2015 had been at large from zero to 2,218 days, with an average of 379 days at large. Of these recaptures, two fish were tagged in 2009, two were tagged in 2012, two were tagged in 2013, nine were tagged in 2014, and 178 were tagged in 2015.

RED DRUM

HISTORICAL

Red drum have been targeted in the VGFTP since 1995. Since then, 56,375 tags have been reported, with peak tagging effort in 2012 (n=18,457 tags, Fig. 45). Seasonal effort peaked in September (n=9,093 tags, Fig. 50), with the highest tagging effort (20% overall) at the York River Hot Ditch (n=11,243 tags, Fig. 51). Tagged red drum ranged in size from 5.75 to 99.9" total length, with a weighted mean length of 16.8 inches and peak effort at the 15 inch size class (n=3,350 tags, Fig. 52).

More than 6,000 red drum have been recaptured in the program (n=6,385 recaptures); 2012 had the highest number of annual recaptures (n=1,528 recaptures, Fig. 53). Seasonal recapture effort peaked in September (n=928 recaptures, Fig. 54) and the highest number of recaptures were recorded at the York River Hot Ditch (n=1,171, 18% overall recaptures, Fig. 55). Red drum were recaptured from 260 sites; the furthest north was Great Bay, NJ and the furthest south was Mosquito Lagoon, FL. Recaptured red drum had been at large from zero to 3,057 days, with an average of 86 days at large.

In 2015, 283 red drum were tagged, with peak effort at Fishermen's Island and Inlet (n=40 tags, Fig. 2015). Red drum size frequencies ranged from 14 to 54 inches total length, with a weighted mean of 37.3 inches. Peak effort took place at the 42 inch size class (n=19 tags, Fig. 57). In terms of recaptures, 23 were reported in 2015. The highest recapture effort took place at the Elizabeth River Hot Ditch, though only three recaptures took place there (Fig. 58). Red drum recaptured in 2015 had been at large from zero to 1,648 days, with an average of 379 days at large. Of these recaptures, one was originally tagged in 2010, three in 2012, one in 2013, 11 in 2014 and six were tagged in 2015 (one additional reported recapture had no tagging date).

HISTORICAL

Tagging effort from sheepshead in the VGFTP began in 2000 and 1,319 tags have been reported since then. Tagging effort peaked in 2004 (n=274 tags, Fig. 59), with seasonal effort peaking in November (n=291 tags, Fig. 60). The York River Hot Ditch was the most popular tagging location with 35% of overall effort taking place here (n=466 tags, Fig. 61). Tagged sheepshead ranged in size from four to 27 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 14 inches and peak effort at the six inch size class (n=89 tags, Fig. 62).

In terms of recaptures, 85 recaptures have been reported since 2000, with the most recaptures in 2007 (n=41 recaptures, Fig. 63). Peak recapture effort took place in November (n=43, Fig. 64) and the York River Hot Ditch had the highest recapture effort (n=61 recaptures, 72% overall effort, Fig. 65). Only eight recapture sites were reported for sheepshead, ranging as far north as the York River (VA) and as far south as the Frisco Fishing Pier, N.C. Recaptured sheepshead had been at large from zero to 690 days, with an average of 23 days at large.

In 2015, 37 sheepshead tags were reported, with the highest tagging effort (73% overall effort) at the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel (CBBT) First Island (n=27 tags, Fig. 66). Tagged sheepshead ranged in size from 12 to 25.5 inches total length; the weighted mean length was 22 inches and peak effort took place at the 24 inch size class (n=7 tags, Fig. 67). There were no sheepshead recaptures reported in 2015.

SPADEFISH

HISTORICAL

Since 1995, more than 6,000

spadefish have been tagged in the VGFTP (n=6,478 tags). Annual effort peaked in 2001 (n=553 tags, Fig. 68) with seasonal effort peaking in June (n=2,321 tags, Fig. 69). The most popular tagging location was the Chesapeake Light Tower (n=2,028 tags, 31% overall effort, Fig. 70). Size frequencies of tagged spadefish ranged from four to 27.5 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 12.5 inches and peak effort at the eight inch size class (n=366 tags, Fig. 71).

Anglers reported 645 spadefish recaptures since 1995; annual effort peaked in 2007 (Fig. 72). Peak recapture effort took place in July (n=264 recaptures, Fig. 73), with the Chesapeake Light Tower also ranking highest in terms of recapture locations (n=221 recaptures, Fig. 74). Spadefish recaptures were reported from 57 sites, ranging as far north as Hooper's Island, MD and as far south as the Avon Fishing Pier, N.C. Recaptured spadefish were at large from zero to 1,380 days, with an average of 45 days at large.

More than 200 spadefish (n=229 tags) were tagged in 2015. The CBBT Third Island was the most popular tagging location (n=121 tags, Fig. 75). Spadefish tagged in 2015 ranged from six to 13.5 inches in total length, with a weighted mean length of 9.6 inches, and peak effort at the 9 and 10 size lengths (n=43 tags each, Fig. 76). There were seven recapture records in 2015, with the highest numbers of recaptures reported at the Buckroe Beach Pier (n=2 recaptures, Fig. 77). Spadefish recaptured in 2015 had been at large from two to 39 days, with an average of 18 days at large.

SPECKLED TROUT

HISTORICAL

Speckled trout have been a target species in the VGFTP since 1995.

Since 1995, 66,322 tags have been reported, with peak annual tagging effort in 2011 (n=12,740 tags). In terms of seasonality and habitat use, peak effort took place in October (n=24,236 tags, Fig. 79) and the Elizabeth River Hot Ditch was the top tagging location (n=8,130 tags, Fig. 80). Tagged speckled trout ranged in size from 4.5 to 34 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 14.1 inches and peak effort at the 11 inch size class (n=5,635 tags, Fig. 81).

Since 1995, 2,331 speckled trout recaptures have been reported, with peak recapture effort in October (n=521 recaptures, Fig. 83). The York River Hot Ditch led in speckled trout recaptures (n=628 recaptures, Fig. 84). More than 170 (n=171) sites were reported ranging as far north as Ocean City, MD and as far south as Savannah, GA. Recaptured speckled trout had been at large from zero to 1,940 days (with an average of 48 days at large).

In 2015, 7,483 speckled trout tags were reported. Fort Monroe had the highest tagging effort (n=3,140 tags, 42% overall effort, Fig. 85) and tagged speckled trout ranged in size from seven to 27 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 11 inches, and a peak at the 11 inch size class (n=1,370 tags, Fig. 86). Anglers reported 75 speckled trout recaptures in 2015 and Fort Monroe also had the highest recapture effort (n=eight recaptures, Fig. 87). Speckled trout recaptured in 2015 had been at large from two to 316 days, with an average of 31 days at large. Of these recaptures, 10 were originally tagged in 2014 and 65 were tagged in 2015.

TAUTOG

HISTORICAL

Since 1995, 18,875 tautog tags have been reported in the VGFTP, with the highest annual effort in 2006 (n=2,081 tags). Seasonal effort peaked in April (n=4,940 tags, Fig. 89) and the Cape Henry Wreck was the most popular tagging site (n=1,405 tags, Fig. 90). Tagged tautog ranged in size from four to 42 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 13.4 inches and peak effort taking place at the 13 inch size class (n=2,043 tags, Fig. 91).

A total of 2,839 tautog recaptures have been reported since 1995, with April having the highest seasonal recapture rate (n=588 tags, Fig. 93). The Cape Henry Wreck also led in terms of recaptures (n=315 recaptures, Fig. 94). Tautog have been reported from 121 sites, ranging as far north as Lewes, DE and as far south as Oregon Inlet, N.C. Recaptured tautog had been at large from zero to 2,826 days, with an average of 295 days at large.

More than 600 tautog were tagged in 2015 (n=673), with the highest tagging effort taking place at the CBBT First Island (n=96 tags, Fig. 95). Size frequencies for tagged tautog ranged from eight to 25 inches total length. The weighted mean length for tagged tautog in 2015 was 14.1 inches and the highest effort took place at the 13 inch size class (n=63 tags, Fig. 96). In terms of recaptures, 84 were reported in 2015, with the Back River Artificial Reef having the highest recapture rate (n=17 recaptures, Fig. 97). Tautog recaptured in 2015 had been at large from zero to 1,624 days with an average of 494 days at large. Of these recaptures, 3 were originally tagged in 2011, eight in 2012, 20 in 2013, 24 in 2014, and 28 were tagged in 2015.

TRIGGERFISH

Triggerfish have been a target species of the VGFTP since 2001, and 1,370 tags have been reported since this time. Annual tagging effort for triggerfish peaked in 2007 (n=262 tags, Fig. 98) with seasonal effort peaking in July (n=614 tags, Fig. 99). The False Cape area led in terms of tagging effort (n=261 tags, Fig. 100). Tagged triggerfish ranged in size from 6.75 to 20.5 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 13 inches and peak effort also at the 13 inch size class (n=133 tags, Fig. 101). Historically, 333 triggerfish recaptures have been reported since 2001 and peak annual effort took place in 2008 (n=76 recaptures, Fig. 102), with the highest seasonal effort in July (Fig. 103). The top recapture location was off the Virginia Beach oceanfront (n=44 tags, Fig. 104). Triggerfish were recaptured at 54 locations ranging as far north as Chincoteague, VA and as far south as Oregon Inlet, N.C. Recaptured triggerfish were at large from zero to 649 days, with an average of 32 days at large.

In 2015, 50 triggerfish tags were reported. The most popular tagging location was off Virginia Beach, mid-shore waters (n=22 tags, Fig. 105) and tagged triggerfish ranged in size from 7.5 to 16 inches total length, with a weighted mean length of 12 inches and peak effort at the 12.5 inch size class (n=8 tags, Fig. 106). Seven recaptures were reported in 2015; the Anglo American Wreck and CBBT Third Island tied for top recapture location (each had 2 recaptures, Fig. 107). Recaptured triggerfish had been at large from 11 to 54 days, with an average of 32 days at large.

CONCLUSION

In 2015, the Tagging Program had an 11.2% decrease in the overall tagging effort (n=12,741 tags) and a 30% decrease in recaptures (n=1,499) from the previous year (Table 3). However, some of the targeted species in the program had an increase in tagging in 2015. Species with an increase in tagging included cobia (n=361 tags, 66 recaptures); sheepshead (n=37 tags, 0 recaptures); speckled trout (n=7,483 tags, 75 recaptures) and tautog (n=673 tags, 84 recaptures) (Table 6). Species that had lower tagging numbers in 2015 included black drum (n=115 tags, 7 recaptures), black sea bass (n=2,150 tags, n=1,037 recaptures); flounder (n=1,360 tags, n=193 recaptures), red drum (n=283 tags, 23 recaptures); spadefish (n=229 tags, 7 recap-tures); and triggerfish (n=50 tags, 7 recaptures; Table 6).

Overall, the VGFTP plays a fundamental role in terms of data collection for recreationally important marine fish species in VA. The program also fosters angler participation in fisheries management and research, and has provided a unique source of information for more than 20 years.

Figure data in this report are accurate as of April 2016. Future analysis of long-term trends in the VGFTP data will continue with the most recent results available online: <http://www.vims.edu/vgftp/>. This report is considered a “living” document with updated versions posted at the website above.

This report accounts for double tagging and counts the number of fish that were tagged and not the number of tags. Double tag info is valid for 2008 and after. For recaptures, this report counts the number of fish recaptured and does not count multiple recaptures of the same fish. The first column under each species is the number of recaptured fish and the second column is the number of tagged fish.

*This table also includes 190 cobia and 199 spadefish that were tagged as part of a special cooperative study with the Virginia Tech Virginia Seafood Agriculture Research and Extension Center in 2012.

These counts have been quality-controlled and any quarantined records have been removed from the final tag and recapture counts. For recaptures, this table counts the total number of recaptures, including recaptures of the same fish. The first column under each species is the number of recaptured fish and the second column is the number of tags.

*This table also includes 190 cobia and 199 spadefish that were tagged as part of a special cooperative study with the Virginia Tech Virginia Seafood Agriculture Research and Extension Center in 2012.

The Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program introduced its 20th year by recently honoring its top taggers from 2014.

"Most anglers don't know what happens to the fish they release," Susanna Musick, coordinator of the program at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science, said in a release. "But by putting numbered tags in the fish they release, they learn about where their fish travel and how much they grow when they are recaptured and reported."

The program issues tags to those that go through a short tagging course, allowing them record information on 10 species of fish that at various times make local waters their home.

Since its inception, more than 650 anglers participated in the program. Over that time more than a quarter-million fish have been tagged and 28,000 have been recaptured.

Ed Shepherd was named the top tagger, catching, recording information on and releasing 2,866 fish.

Appendix D:

2015 Tag Recaptures by Species

1. Multiple recaptures are distinguished for individual fish by the records having IDENTICAL Tag Numbers and Tag Dates.
2. Multiple recaptures are listed in sequential order, with the most recent recapture listed first on the Tag Number column. Multiple recaptures often document the location of the fish over two different or distinct times. However, two (or more) recaptures of the same tagged fish can occur on the same day and even the same location. These types of events document good tagging and release survival rates for the species.
3. Multiple recapture data provide especially valuable information. This information can only be recorded when anglers write down and report the tag number as soon as possible, then release the fish with the tag still in place.
